

Circuit switching: each user owns a third of the link, mostly idle (pale)

Packet switching: whoever has data uses the whole link, three times faster

